

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

Cheerfulness and a bright disposition during the months before baby comes, are among the greatest blessings a mother can bestow upon the little life about to begin. Her happiness and physical comfort will largely govern the proper development of the health and nature of the child. Mother's Friend contributes much to the mother's happiness and health by the relief and mental comfort it affords. It is a liniment composed of penetrating oils and medicines which lubricate the muscles and tendons of the body, soothe the swollen mammary glands, cause a gradual expansion of the skin and tissues, and aid in the relief of nausea. The regular use of Mother's Friend greatly lessens the pain and danger when baby comes, and assures a quick and natural recovery for the mother. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book, containing valuable information for expectant Mothers.

NO MORE GRAY HAIR.
It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

not eat less than we do now, as some people are trying to prove, but we put on less style. Style is all right for those that want it. I have no fault to find with it at all, but I wish to remark that it comes high and must be paid for. This increase in style, 'dog', show, display, or what ever you want to call it, extends from the top to the bottom of the scale of life.

"Now, as an illustration, I have a Pole working for me on my place down on Long Island. He has several children. The other day I met the crowd of youngsters down on the place—on a week-day, too, mind you,—and every last one of them was wearing patent leather shoes. That workman of mine has a new $60 steel range in his kitchen and a piano that he got on time payments. Of course I am glad that he feels that he can afford all these things, but in the old days they were not purchased by the people of limited means. The children, instead of wearing patent leathers, went barefoot in the summer and in the winter wore heavy, serviceable cowhide shoes that would last them years. Only the very well to do thought they could have pianos, and a $15 or $20 stove was good enough for almost anyone's kitchen.

"When I was younger and had to have things from the grocery store, I went after my purchases. Now the customer of the grocer or the butcher or the baker insists on having his pound of butter, his mutton chops, his loaf of bread delivered at his door. The dealer must charge for his horse, his wagon, his harness and his deliveryman. Someone must pay the bill, and of course it comes out of the goods—the extra service is the one that should stand for it, and he does whether he likes it or not.

"If people would patronize the little storekeepers in and out of the way corners of the cities they would find that they could reduce their cost of living a good bit. For instance, I bought this pair of shoes I am wearing for $4 in a store down by the navy yard where the rents are low. If I had got the same shoe up on Pennsylvania avenue, or F street, where the more aristocratic do their buying, I would have paid $5 or $5.50 for it. The man I got the shoes from does not maintain a delivery wagon, has no expensive office force to maintain, and has no help except one young man who acts as general assistant, sweeper-out and the boss's understudy.

"The cost of milk has climbed steadily during the last few years because people insist on more style in the manner in which it is brought to them. I am a practical dairyman and I know what I am talking about. In the old days there were no bottles, no pretty wagons, no tubercles, no pretty wagons, no tubercles, no pretty wagons, no tubercles. In tests to be paid for. The milk was delivered from door to door by the man or woman carrying the product in large cans or buckets. Now the milkman has a $200 horse, a $250 or $300 wagon, a $75 set of harness on the horse, and stables and aseptic cans, sterilized bottles, Pasteurizing apparatus in his storage house, and goodness knows what else to make the cost mount skyward. Every bottle that is broken, every germ-proof paraffin-coated bottle cover that is used, costs money and the customer must pay the bill.

"The same wild race after style is found all over the country. The farmer has got to have the latest and prettiest labor-saving devices. Their rubber-tired runabouts must be equipped with the last up-to-the-minute trimmings, and pretty soon the $400 runabout goes into the lot of the barn in order to make room for the $1,000 automobile roadster or the $3,000 touring car. As a result of all this style, the farmer must charge more for his meat, his vegetables and his grain if he is going to keep his head above water. One of these days I'm going to get up on the floor of the house and express a few of my views along these lines. I may not be able to increase the visible supply of oratory by the effort, but I'll bet I can give them a few ideas on the real reason for the increased cost of living."

is the remark we often hear when referring to little ones whose faces are pale and wan, and limbs thin and spindling.
If mothers in this vicinity only realized how quickly these little ones can be made strong, robust and rosy by our delicious cod liver and iron preparation VINOL, we would not see so many delicate children on our streets. W. B. McPherson, druggist, Paducah.

DOGS GET DRUNK ON FUMES ESCAPING FROM AUTOS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 19.—The Pittsburgh police department, after an exhaustive investigation, has decided that the alleged epidemic of hydrophobia among dogs here is nothing more or less than a plain case of drunkenness among the dogs—drunkenness through the fumes of gas escaping from automobiles.
Captain of Police Ford declares he has discovered the dogs became drunk like the chauffeurs who speed. Both got intoxicated, he says, on gasoline fumes. The captain explains that there is a habit prevalent among chauffeurs of drinking gasoline. The fumes from this oil exhilarates the limber and gives him nerve to clip curves and corners.
The dog acquires the gasoline fume drunk habit through running after automobiles. The dog then gets into the same class as the gasoline exhilarated auto driver and does wild and ungovernable things. The dogs are not mad, they're drunk, says the captain.

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss. Rochester, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy.

GEOLOGICAL COMMISSION.

Organization Will Be Effected Friday—Authorized By Legislature.

Washington, Jan. 19.—In reply to a communication of inquiry, Representative Garret received a letter from Governor Patterson informing him that a meeting of the state geological commission, authorized by the last Tennessee legislature, would be held next Friday for the purpose of effecting an organization under the act creating this commission. It will have authority to expend an appropriation already made for drainage, survey and other matters specified in the act. This appropriation, however, will not be available until next May. Representative Garret is interested mainly in the geological commission at this time, because through it he hopes to go as surveyor of the lands of West Tennessee.
